

The Steeple

November 2020

FROM OUR PASTOR

Have you ever noticed that someone who predicts a certain candidate will win an election is also for that candidate? It's not always true, but it seems to be most of the time. Predicting can be a political activity. People like to be on the side of the winner, and if you predict confidently that Candidate X will surely win, I may want to get on that bandwagon so I can feel good when the results come in.

Maybe you've also noticed something else: someone who complains that a pastor is too political is also someone who is on the opposite side of the political fence from that pastor. When people perceive that a pastor's political views are different from their own, that's when they're likely to say something like, "The church is for religion, not for politics."

That affects how we see Jesus, too. He spoke of heavenly things, not earthly matters, some say. He was a spiritual leader; Jews who thought he was interested in political power profoundly misunderstood him. Well, that's what we've heard, and that's what I thought about Jesus, too—until I started to look into the ancient writings more closely. A more complicated picture emerged. I'll tell you how it looks now (without getting down into the weeds). embrace bold steps; to assist God to invade, rather than leave it to the angels.

So—political? Yes, in saying that the world is not as it should be, especially regarding income inequality. But not if you mean advocating a revolution. (And talk of holding an election would have sounded strange in that time and place.) Also, Jesus probably believed that once the angels rounded up the bad guys and the Son of Man condemned them, Jesus himself would be installed as the king of Israel. But he didn't say that to very many people.

So what about us? Are we supposed to separate religion and politics? Or are we supposed to integrate them? My guess is that Jesus didn't see them as two different spheres. He was deeply concerned about earthly realities. He believed that when God's name was hallowed, God's will would be done on earth as it is in heaven. How we try to make that happen, absent an angelic invasion, is hard to figure out. So much depends on the circumstances of time and place. But I believe we are invited to see the world as Jesus saw it and to embrace realistic prospects for acting accordingly.

Yes, there is SECRET SANTA

This year the Christmas Wish Tree will not be decorated with 'Wish Cards' from the children but you can get one or more card(s) from Ann if you would like to shop for a child. On each card will be a child's name and their wish.

Our church will once again help families by purchasing and wrapping gifts for them. I know someone is always asking you to give, but what better reason than for a child.

Last year we helped forty children have a happy Christmas.

The deadline to donate money is December 1. If you would like to shop or wrap, contact Ann at 695-1212 or email the church. We will be wrapping on December 8.

If you know of a family who will go without gifts, give their information to Ann. Names and all information will be kept confidential.

PRAYER

Shepherd Lord

based on REV 7:13-17

Shepherd Lord we need You:

We are lost, stumbling down unfamiliar roads wearing our face masks over our eyes.

We seem to be unable to tell the difference between Truth and Untruth.

Our ears are blocked by the ranting and shouting of the crowds around us.

Light is Darkness and Darkness is Light in the words of our leaders 1000 of our Brothers and Sisters die each day in this nation alone because we will not listen to those who know how to protect us.

Our Leaders serve themselves rather than us. We cannot find our Way.

Shepherd Lord, we need You.

Come Lord. Lead us to safety.

Wash our eyes that we may see clearly again.

Quiet the Sounds of raging voices so that we may hear you again

Take our hands as we stumble and lead us back to safe and stable ground.

Wrap us in your Love and carry us through these days.

Lord God, Lord Jesus, Shepherd Lord, Come to us Holy One, we need You.

Be with us.

retired elder from Gilford, NH.*
